TIMELINE TRIVIA

(For May 20, 2022 Anniversary Party)

- Fall 1896 During an informal gathering at the Roland Park home of Isabella Parlett (102 Blithewood Ave, which is now 317 Oakdale Rd), 25-year-old Hattie Goodrich Parlett suggests forming a women's club in the neighborhood. The idea is well-received by all.
- Dec 8, 1896 The first official meeting of the club is held at the home of Mrs. C. Pinckney Brown (317 Woodlawn Rd). 28 women are in attendance. The constitution and bylaws are adopted and Anna W. Heath, a member of the Mt. Washington Lend-a-Hand Club, is chosen as president. Annual dues are $2.00, with a fine of ten cents for absence and five cents for lateness. Mrs. John T. Graham (President of the Lend-A-Hand Club) christens the new club, "The Woman's Club of Roland Park."
- 1897 The club begins raising funds with a dream to erect a clubhouse in Roland Park somewhat similar to "the Casino" community hall in Mt. Washington.
- April 1897 The first Cherry Blossom fete is held at the home of Club President Anna Waldorf Heath (Fryer and Capron Avenues, which is now 401 Woodlawn Rd). This annual event is initially celebrated on various members' lawns, later on the clubhouse lawn. Proceeds from the fete are set aside for the building fund. Cherry Blossom fetes continue through 1918.
- June 1897 Regular biweekly meetings move from members' homes to a room on the ground floor of Roland Park Hall (Upland Rd and Roland Ave). Rent is $20 per month plus utilities. At this time, there are about 150 homes in Roland Park, all with electricity and indoor plumbing. (90% of Baltimore City does not have indoor plumbing in 1897.)
- 1898 TWCRP joins with the Mt. Washington Lend-A-Hand Club to voice disapproval of county fair side-shows.
- June 1898 The Club begins raising money for the Fresh Air Fund in support of disadvantaged youth. The Club continues its relationship with the Fresh Air Fund for many years.
- Feb 1899 TWCRP campaigns successfully for street cars to have covered vestibules in order to protect motormen in bad weather.
- 1899 TWCRP becomes a charter member of the Maryland State Federation of Women's Clubs. TWCRP maintains a close relationship with the Federation until 1944. Three past presidents and two club members go on to become presidents of the Maryland Federation and two become presidents of the national organization. Through the years, dozens of Federation meeting are held at the Roland Avenue clubhouse.
- Jan 1900 The Club pushes to create an ordinance against public spitting. Members meet with the health commissioner to discuss.

- 1900-02 The Club campaigns against sweat shops and inhumane work conditions. Members personally visit at least 25 merchants to demand “white label goods,” apparel guaranteed to have been manufactured under hygienic and humane conditions.
- Dec 1900 TWCRP sponsors a clothing drive to support victims of the September 1900 Great Galveston (Texas) Hurricane.
- May 1901 Club membership is at 82, and the balance in the treasury is $94.77.
- Nov 1901 TWCRP supports a book drive in Talbot County with a donation of 305 books and several boxes of magazines.
- Feb 1902 The Club endorses 2 bills to protect children; one to establish a juvenile court and one for child labor restrictions.
- Fall 1902 The Roland Park Company requires the Club’s first-floor rooms at Roland Park Hall for its own use. Temporary quarters on the second floor are arranged and the long-talked-about clubhouse becomes a necessity. A site is selected at the corner of Roland Avenue and Ridgewood Road. The cost of the building lot is only $3,500 (reportedly one-third less than the going rate for the land) thanks to the generosity and support of the Roland Park Company. Edward Bouton, the general manager of the Roland Park Company, is the husband of charter member Luella Bouton.
- June 1903 The Roland Park Woman’s Club Building Company is formed. Architects Ellicott & Emmart are chosen to design the new clubhouse and over $5,000 is raised through the sale of bonds to members of the club. The Club considers a plan to increase its younger membership by building tennis courts on the lawn!
- Jan 11, 1904 The new clubhouse opens. The original building contains an auditorium with a small speaker platform and a fireplace, a “resting parlor,” an open porch, a basement kitchen and a second-floor apartment for rent. The walls are painted white and the woodwork is forest green. There is a wide veranda and terrace sloping to Ridgewood Road for 5 o’clock teas and open-air fetes.
- 1904 Almost immediately, the new clubhouse becomes a hub of activities in the community. Numerous Roland Park Civic League meetings, charity card parties, school graduations, dancing classes, wedding receptions and private parties are held at the WCRP clubhouse from 1904 until 1935. In consideration of the neighbors, all evening events end by 12:30 a.m. and music may not include drums!
- April 1904 The Club holds a leap-year subscription dance to benefit victims of the Great Baltimore Fire (Feb 7-8, 1904).
- April 1905 Two months before her 23rd birthday, renowned American landscape architect Beatrix Jones Farrand sketches a plan for the Club’s gardens, including a tea house and a trellised bench for trolley passengers. It’s possible that Farrand has come to the area to meet with the Olmsted Brothers, who are laying out the landscape design for Plat 2 of Roland Park. The Club will rely heavily on Beatrix Farrand’s design when the gardens are upgraded more than 100 years later.

- May 1905 Commencement exercises for Roland Park Country School for Girls are held at the clubhouse. The school has recently moved to 210 Roland Ave (renumbered 4608) where it will remain until 1916. There are two pupils in the 1905 graduation class!
- Jan 1906 Club members embark on an extensive program to teach Hampden and Woodberry mill children to read.
- 1907 During the presidency of Mrs. E. W. Davison, the Club begins to offer a Junior Membership for girls 14-20 years old. Without a real Junior Department to support it, this program eventually dies out.
- 1907 TWCRP donates a new piano to the Roland Park Public School.
- 1908 The term "Porch Class" is used to describe Thursday morning lectures. The Club will use this expression up until Spring 1917.
- Nov 1908 Miss Ellen H. Perot begins offering dancing class at the clubhouse. Club member Claire von Marees Stieff will fondly remember attending Miss Perot's dancing class in 1913, when Claire is 12-years old.
- 1909 Members actively push for the building of a neighborhood community center in Hampden's West Park. The center will later be renamed Roosevelt Park Recreation Center.
- 1914 A sun porch is added to the south side of the clubhouse. On "club days" the sun porch is used as a dining area.
- 1915 Interest in equal suffrage grows. The club hosts numerous speakers and members debate the issue extensively.
- 1915 With membership now at 183, the Club decides to cease renting the upstairs apartment for a one-year test period. A lending library is established at the clubhouse with 157 books.
- 1916 Goucher College professor Dr. Katherine Jeanne Gallagher begins her monthly series of lively and well-informed lectures. Dr. Gallagher continues as a popular speaker at the Club for 30 years, until her retirement in 1947.
- April 1917 The US enters World War I. To assist in the war effort, the second floor of the clubhouse is offered to the Red Cross free of charge. TWCRP extends the hospitality of the Club to all servicemen's wives in the area. The Club subscribes to $700 worth of Liberty Bonds and individual members subscribe to an additional $59,500 in war bonds. Cash donations are collected to establish furlough houses and rest centers in France.
- Jan 1, 1919 Roland Park is annexed by Baltimore City. Many street names are changed to avoid confusion with other city streets. Club membership reaches its constitutional limit of 200 and a wait list is formed. Rent for the second-floor apartment is set at $55/month.
- May 1920 The club begins to make donations to support the Florence Crittenton Mission for wayward girls.

- May 1923      The membership limit is increased to 350.
- 1924            The Club's first academic scholarship, a gift of $250.00, is presented to a Goucher College student. The scholarship program continues for decades.
- Dec 1924      The Club holds a card party to benefit preservation of the Baltimore Shot Tower.
- Oct 1926      The Garden Section presents its first flower show at the clubhouse. Flower shows become an annual tradition for more than 50 years.
- April 1929     Club poet laureate Helen Bayley Davis publishes a collection of her poetry, Moth Wings.
- Oct 1929      A bird bath is placed on the club grounds in memory of renowned lawyer John E. Semmes (1851-1925). It is one of several bird baths placed around Roland Park by the Semmes family.
- Jan 1930      TWCRP purchases its Stieff Grand Style piano.
- June 1930     Club members canvass the greater Roland Park area in Red Cross fund-raising campaigns.
- 1930            The Club uses a $100 prize won selling magazines to purchase Thomas Cromwell Corner's "A Still Life" oil painting of cherry blossoms. A long-time resident of Roland Park, Corner was a founding member of the Baltimore Museum of Art. The oil painting of cherry blossoms hangs over the fireplace in the auditorium for decades.
- Oct 1931      The Club endorses a bill in favor of jury duty for women.
- Fall 1933      Mrs. Herbert Gillespie becomes the first president of the newly formed Juniors Department. Mrs. Gideon N. Stieff acts as Senior advisor. Initial work of the group focuses on supporting the Roosevelt Recreation Center in Hampden. Over the coming decades, the Juniors thrive as a separate department of the Club. Limited to 50 members until 1950, it later grows to 150 members. In 1979 the group reorganizes as the Junior Committee. The Junior Committee continues until 2011.
- June 1935     The Club chorus expands to 60 singers. Chorus members sing at recitals, teas and receptions.
- Oct 1935      Following a contentious struggle with the Roland Park Roads and Maintenance Board, the WCRP proceeds with plans to enlarge the clubhouse. The front porch is enclosed and a permanent stage is built in the auditorium. The speaker's room, flower room, rear hall and stairway are added to the back of the building. Apartment rental ceases and the Juniors Department gets a new clubroom on the second floor. The kitchen moves from the basement to its current location. The basement will be used for painting classes and small meetings.
- The Club agrees to hold membership at 500 Seniors and 50 Juniors (550 members total) until 1950 and to wait 15 years before it embarks on any further expansion.

- Dec 1935 TWCRP has its annual Christmas party for the nursery school children at Roosevelt Park Recreation Center.
- Mar 1937 The Club urges the Maryland General Assembly to pass a series of bills to give illegitimate children rights under Maryland law.
- 1938 The Batchelder tile fountain is given in memory of Miss Clara Paine Gault. Clara, her sister Laura Gault Blick and her mother Sallie Johnson Gault were all members of the Club as early as 1918. In good humor, members name the fount “the Fountain of Youth.” Through the generosity of the Club’s 50-year members, the fountain is beautifully restored in 2017.
- Feb 1938 First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt receives 386 members of the Woman’s Club of Roland Park in the Red Room of the White House. Club members travel to Washington by special train, where they are greeted by a fleet of one hundred White Taxis and a motorcycle escort which ushers them to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.
- Feb 1939 The Club compiles an impressive list of 20 “Pioneer Club Women” who have been members of the WCRP for at least 35 years. Today we celebrate our 50-year members with an annual luncheon held in their honor.
- 1939 The Council of Past Presidents is created.
- May 1941 With strong endorsement from TWCRP, notable club member Sara Anderson Whitehurst is elected National President of the General Federation of Women’s Clubs of America, an organization of almost 2 million women.
- Summer 1941 The painted walls in the upstairs dining room are upgraded to wallpaper featuring a large cabbage rose pattern in delicate colors. This wallpaper remains until 1961.
- Dec 1941 The clubhouse becomes a center for Red Cross classes and surgical dressings workshops, after the US enters World War II. The auditorium is made available for other war-relief work and the clubhouse is used as the neighborhood Civil Defense Shelter. Mrs. John T. Tucker does an outstanding job inspiring the Club in the war effort. An aggregate of nearly 100,000 hours of volunteer work is logged by the Club’s 180 members. Over the next 4 years, tens of thousands of surgical dressings kits are prepared, packed and shipped from the clubhouse. In addition, the group sews clothing for the Happy Hills Convalescent Home for Children and the U.S. Marine Hospital.
- July 1943 As planned for in its charter, the Roland Park Woman’s Club Building Company is dissolved after 40 years.
- 1946 The Club celebrates its 50th birthday with a Jubilee pageant called, “A Revue – Through the Years.” There are now 750 members of the club.
